

WHITMAN COLLEGE

GENDER SKIN BODIES

ANNUAL GENDER STUDIES RESEARCH ROUNDTABLE

From the cellular level to the surface of the skin, how is gender lived in and through the body? What do we learn about the body when we consider it through the lenses of sex and gender? Join us for a roundtable discussion of work-in-progress by scholars, practitioners, and activists exploring issues in health and wellness, group identity, violence, creative expression, and political performance.

DeLisa Fairweather

Director of Translational
Research, Department of Cardiovascular Diseases,
Mayo Clinic

Elyse Semerdjian

Associate Professor of History,
Whitman College

Lydia McDermott

Associate Professor of Composition,
Whitman College

Raechel Tiffe

Instructor of Communication
Studies, Normandale
Community College

4-6 P.M. FEBRUARY 12
Kimball Auditorium Hunter Conservatory
FREE & OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

SPONSORED BY THE GENDER STUDIES PROGRAM, THE
ROBERT AND MABEL GROSECLOSE ENDOWED LECTURE
FUND, AND THE ARTHUR G. REMPEL LECTURESHIP IN BIOLOGY