At this time we have no known cases of coronavirus in Whitman students, faculty or staff; however, there are five confirmed cases in Walla Walla County. The Whitman County Public Health Department has received a notice of one additional potential case in Walla Walla County. This further highlights the importance of social distancing for our own students and the responsibility we all have to do what we can to slow the spread of coronavirus in Walla Walla.

Also, the federal government has now recommended restrictions on social distancing through the month of April. That means all Americans must continue to avoid nonessential travel, going to work, eating at restaurants or gathering in groups for at least another month, and perhaps well into the summer.

Campus Buildings Closed:
Online Classes Start Today!

At this time we have no known cases of coronavirus in Whitman students, faculty or staff; however, there are five confirmed cases in Walla Walla County. The Whitman County Public Health Department has received a notice of one additional potential case in Walla Walla County. This further highlights the importance of social distancing through the month of April. That means all Americans must continue to avoid nonessential travel, going to work, eating at restaurants or gathering in groups for at least another month, and perhaps well into the summer.

Counseling Center:

For students remaining in Walla Walla, the Counseling Center is available and can do teletherapy to students who physically reside in Washington state. Students outside Washington can reach out to their local counselor. Call 509-527-5195 to reach the counseling center.

Welty Student Health Center:

For students remaining in Walla Walla, the Welty Student Health Center is available by appointment only. If you need to see a provider, call 509-527-5281 for assistance. All students can access free virtual care through Spirit Health. They can be contacted to set up a call with a provider.

CARE Team:

As long as classes are in session, whether online or in-person, we will be responding to concerns raised about students. We want to continue to encourage people to send CARE notes to students. We have concerns about a student, contact the CARE Team.

Campus Resources

Online Learning Tips and Tools

If you have questions about your online learning experience, reach out to your faculty if you have concerns about equipment. Your professors will be in touch about how they will structure your class.

The best way to prevent the spread of COVID-19 is to wash your hands with soap and water for 20 seconds frequently. That means before and after you handle food or eat; after using the restroom; when entering and leaving public spaces; and when touching any shared surfaces.

Health Reminder

Wash Your Hands:

The best way to prevent the spread of COVID-19 is to wash your hands with soap and water for 20 seconds frequently. That means before and after you handle food or eat; after using the restroom; when entering and leaving public spaces; and when touching any shared surfaces.

CARE Team:

As long as classes are in session, whether online or in-person, we will be responding to concerns raised about students. We want to continue to encourage people to send CARE notes to students. We have concerns about a student, contact the CARE Team.

Counseling Center:

For students remaining in Walla Walla, the Counseling Center is available and can do teletherapy to students who physically reside in Washington state. Students outside Washington can reach out to their local counselor. Call 509-527-5195 to reach the counseling center.

Welty Student Health Center:

For students remaining in Walla Walla, the Welty Student Health Center is available by appointment only. If you need to see a provider, call 509-527-5281 for assistance. All students can access free virtual care through Spirit Health. They can be contacted to set up a call with a provider.

CARE Team:

As long as classes are in session, whether online or in-person, we will be responding to concerns raised about students. We want to continue to encourage people to send CARE notes to students. We have concerns about a student, contact the CARE Team.

Campus Resources

Online Learning Tips and Tools

If you have questions about your online learning experience, reach out to your faculty if you have concerns about equipment. Your professors will be in touch about how they will structure your class.