Whitman Today is a student-focused program co-produced by Whitman Marketing and Whitman College. Whitman Today is a student-focused program produced by the Whitman College Department of Marketing and Whitman College. Whitman Today is a student-focused program co-produced by Whitman Marketing and Whitman College.

Announcements

Open Registration for Students

Registration is open for all students starting today at 8 a.m. through Dec. 5. Students may add or drop courses for the spring 2021 semester through the registration section in myWhitman.

If you have any issues finding enough credits or courses for spring 2021 you may contact the Registrar's Office at registrations@whitman.edu. Submissions should be 125 words or less. The deadline for Open Registration for Students is Dec. 5 at noon for the following day's newsletter, though submissions may be held for a later date.

The Climbing Club is extremely excited to host the No Man's Land Film Festival on Friday, Nov. 20, and Saturday, Nov. 21, in conjunction with the National Climbing Day. The festival will be showing a selection of 10 short films (lasting about 90 minutes in total) between 4-9 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 20. The festival will be virtual and free for all Whitman students, faculty and staff, so please join in for an afternoon of outdoor recreation. The festival will screen films about female and non-binary climbers, including stories of female climbers and free soloists around the world.

No Man's Land Film Festival will be hosted online through Whitman's Virtual Student Recreation Center. Sign up to join the Bilingual United listserv and learn more about these screenings and other events. Make any necessary changes before continuing.

Students may add or drop courses for the spring 2021 semester through the registration section in myWhitman. In the Course Registrations section of the myWhitman homepage, please follow the steps below to accept your consent:

1. Check your schedule to ensure it does not conflict with another course and will not place you in academic overload (i.e., greater than 18 academic credits).
2. In the Course Consents section click View Consents.
3. Click the Accept Consent button for the course. If no problems are found, the Registrar's Office will add the course to your schedule and confirm by email.

If you have any issues with this process or need approval for the course, please email myWhitman@whitman.edu.

As a reminder, the process to accept registration consent is:

1. In the Course Consents section click View Consents.
2. Check your schedule to ensure it does not conflict with another course and will not place you in academic overload (i.e., greater than 18 academic credits).
3. Click the Accept Consent button for the course. If no problems are found, the Registrar's Office will add the course to your schedule and confirm by email.

No Man’s Land Film Festival: Virtual Author Conversation for Spokane Bookstore

This Thursday, Nov. 19 at 4 p.m. join Bilingual United for a discussion with Jennifer Atkinson, associate teaching professor at the University of Hawaii at Manoa, to celebrate her book of poetry, “Standing Woman.” This event will be virtual and free for all Whitman students, faculty and staff, so please join in for an afternoon of outdoor recreation. The festival will be showing a selection of 10 short films (lasting about 90 minutes in total) between 4-9 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 20. The festival will be virtual and free for all Whitman students, faculty and staff, so please join in for an afternoon of outdoor recreation. The festival will screen films about female and non-binary climbers, including stories of female climbers and free soloists around the world.

January 31: Bilingual United will host an informational event on the history of forced sterilization in the U.S. and providing an opportunity to take action against the forced sterilization of Indigenous women. This event will cover the history of forced sterilization in the U.S., including what it means to take action against the forced sterilization of Indigenous women and learn how to support those impacted by forced sterilization in the U.S. and worldwide.

Town Hall for Students and Families

President Murray will host a town hall meeting for students and their families. Hear from President Murray and ask your questions.

Monday, November 16, 2020

4 p.m.

Town Hall for Students and Families

President Murray will host a town hall meeting for students and their families. Hear from President Murray and ask your questions.

Bilingual United Hosts Author Conversation for Spokane Bookstore

This Thursday, Nov. 19 at 4 p.m. join Bilingual United for a discussion with Jennifer Atkinson, associate teaching professor at the University of Hawaii at Manoa, to celebrate her book of poetry, “Standing Woman.” This event will be virtual and free for all Whitman students, faculty and staff, so please join in for an afternoon of outdoor recreation. The festival will be showing a selection of 10 short films (lasting about 90 minutes in total) between 4-9 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 20. The festival will be virtual and free for all Whitman students, faculty and staff, so please join in for an afternoon of outdoor recreation. The festival will screen films about female and non-binary climbers, including stories of female climbers and free soloists around the world.

No Man’s Land Film Festival: Virtual Author Conversation for Spokane Bookstore

This Thursday, Nov. 19 at 4 p.m. join Bilingual United for a discussion with Jennifer Atkinson, associate teaching professor at the University of Hawaii at Manoa, to celebrate her book of poetry, “Standing Woman.” This event will be virtual and free for all Whitman students, faculty and staff, so please join in for an afternoon of outdoor recreation. The festival will be showing a selection of 10 short films (lasting about 90 minutes in total) between 4-9 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 20. The festival will be virtual and free for all Whitman students, faculty and staff, so please join in for an afternoon of outdoor recreation. The festival will screen films about female and non-binary climbers, including stories of female climbers and free soloists around the world.

January 31: Bilingual United will host an informational event on the history of forced sterilization in the U.S. and providing an opportunity to take action against the forced sterilization of Indigenous women. This event will cover the history of forced sterilization in the U.S., including what it means to take action against the forced sterilization of Indigenous women and learn how to support those impacted by forced sterilization in the U.S. and worldwide.

Town Hall for Students and Families

President Murray will host a town hall meeting for students and their families. Hear from President Murray and ask your questions.

Monday, November 16, 2020

4 p.m.

Town Hall for Students and Families

President Murray will host a town hall meeting for students and their families. Hear from President Murray and ask your questions.

Bilingual United Hosts Author Conversation for Spokane Bookstore

This Thursday, Nov. 19 at 4 p.m. join Bilingual United for a discussion with Jennifer Atkinson, associate teaching professor at the University of Hawaii at Manoa, to celebrate her book of poetry, “Standing Woman.” This event will be virtual and free for all Whitman students, faculty and staff, so please join in for an afternoon of outdoor recreation. The festival will be showing a selection of 10 short films (lasting about 90 minutes in total) between 4-9 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 20. The festival will be virtual and free for all Whitman students, faculty and staff, so please join in for an afternoon of outdoor recreation. The festival will screen films about female and non-binary climbers, including stories of female climbers and free soloists around the world.

No Man’s Land Film Festival: Virtual Author Conversation for Spokane Bookstore

This Thursday, Nov. 19 at 4 p.m. join Bilingual United for a discussion with Jennifer Atkinson, associate teaching professor at the University of Hawaii at Manoa, to celebrate her book of poetry, “Standing Woman.” This event will be virtual and free for all Whitman students, faculty and staff, so please join in for an afternoon of outdoor recreation. The festival will be showing a selection of 10 short films (lasting about 90 minutes in total) between 4-9 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 20. The festival will be virtual and free for all Whitman students, faculty and staff, so please join in for an afternoon of outdoor recreation. The festival will screen films about female and non-binary climbers, including stories of female climbers and free soloists around the world.

No Man’s Land Film Festival: Virtual Author Conversation for Spokane Bookstore

This Thursday, Nov. 19 at 4 p.m. join Bilingual United for a discussion with Jennifer Atkinson, associate teaching professor at the University of Hawaii at Manoa, to celebrate her book of poetry, “Standing Woman.” This event will be virtual and free for all Whitman students, faculty and staff, so please join in for an afternoon of outdoor recreation. The festival will be showing a selection of 10 short films (lasting about 90 minutes in total) between 4-9 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 20. The festival will be virtual and free for all Whitman students, faculty and staff, so please join in for an afternoon of outdoor recreation. The festival will screen films about female and non-binary climbers, including stories of female climbers and free soloists around the world.

No Man’s Land Film Festival: Virtual Author Conversation for Spokane Bookstore

This Thursday, Nov. 19 at 4 p.m. join Bilingual United for a discussion with Jennifer Atkinson, associate teaching professor at the University of Hawaii at Manoa, to celebrate her book of poetry, “Standing Woman.” This event will be virtual and free for all Whitman students, faculty and staff, so please join in for an afternoon of outdoor recreation. The festival will be showing a selection of 10 short films (lasting about 90 minutes in total) between 4-9 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 20. The festival will be virtual and free for all Whitman students, faculty and staff, so please join in for an afternoon of outdoor recreation. The festival will screen films about female and non-binary climbers, including stories of female climbers and free soloists around the world.

No Man’s Land Film Festival: Virtual Author Conversation for Spokane Bookstore

This Thursday, Nov. 19 at 4 p.m. join Bilingual United for a discussion with Jennifer Atkinson, associate teaching professor at the University of Hawaii at Manoa, to celebrate her book of poetry, “Standing Woman.” This event will be virtual and free for all Whitman students, faculty and staff, so please join in for an afternoon of outdoor recreation. The festival will be showing a selection of 10 short films (lasting about 90 minutes in total) between 4-9 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 20. The festival will be virtual and free for all Whitman students, faculty and staff, so please join in for an afternoon of outdoor recreation. The festival will screen films about female and non-binary climbers, including stories of female climbers and free soloists around the world.

No Man’s Land Film Festival: Virtual Author Conversation for Spokane Bookstore

This Thursday, Nov. 19 at 4 p.m. join Bilingual United for a discussion with Jennifer Atkinson, associate teaching professor at the University of Hawaii at Manoa, to celebrate her book of poetry, “Standing Woman.” This event will be virtual and free for all Whitman students, faculty and staff, so please join in for an afternoon of outdoor recreation. The festival will be showing a selection of 10 short films (lasting about 90 minutes in total) between 4-9 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 20. The festival will be virtual and free for all Whitman students, faculty and staff, so please join in for an afternoon of outdoor recreation. The festival will screen films about female and non-binary climbers, including stories of female climbers and free soloists around the world.