This Week's Events

1 p.m.  Today, head off to your local bookstore! Bookstores are a great place to find new books, support local authors, and support your community. Visit one today and see what they have to offer.

2 p.m.  Join the club! Student organizations often rely on members to help keep their programs running. Check out these organizations and see if you're interested in becoming a member.

3 p.m.  Volunteer your time! Many local organizations need volunteers to help with various tasks. Check out these opportunities and see if you can make a difference.

4 p.m.  Need help planning your weekend? Check out this event calendar to find something fun to do. Whether it's a concert, a sports game, or a museum exhibit, there's something for everyone.

5 p.m.  Don't forget to check out this week's special event! It's a great opportunity to see something new and exciting. Don't miss out!

6 p.m.  More events to come! Keep an eye on the Whitman Events Calendar for more information.

At Whitman, we pride ourselves on providing a diverse range of events and opportunities for students to engage with their community. Whether it's a sporting event, a cultural event, or a service opportunity, there's something for everyone.

Please reach out to current residence life staff if you have any questions.

Applications are due at 5 p.m. on Oct. 22. Current RAs and RDs will be hosting an information session for you.

The RA position is for you. If you are passionate about leadership experience, and want free room and board, then the RA position is for you.

Resident Assistant (RA) applications are out! If you are passionate about leadership experience, and want free room and board, then the RA position is for you.

Applications are available in the Residence Life Office (Memorial 130) and are due at 5 p.m. on Oct. 22. Current RAs and RDs will be hosting an information session for you.

Did you get an email about an upcoming event that you don't want to forget? If you're on a computer, you can turn that email into an event in your Google Calendar with just a few easy steps:

1. In the top menu bar, click the three vertical dots and select "Create Event." This is a radical, 50-year-old experiment in something different. KWCW, broadcasting on 90.5 FM, has been a free-form station since it went live in January 1971, playing with what Whitman magazine described in 1981 as a "rainbow format," making room for student and community DJs to share their music.

Sometimes Top 40 hits make their way onto the roster, but a lot of the music on KWCW doesn't get much, if any play on commercial stations. A gloomy song from a shoegaze rock band is followed promptly and unabashedly by bright, pop-y funk, which then fades into a 60-year-old country ballad, then '90s garage beats and so on.

On a radio dial occupied by genre-bound stations, each one playing a certain kind of music, KWCW doesn't get much, if any play on commercial stations. By Emry Dinman for the Walla Walla Union-Bulletin.