Grant for Pedagogical Development

With Sharon Alker – Whitman College Grant for Innovation in Teaching and Learning: Experiencing the Virtual Archive. The grant was originally made to fund a two-year subscription to the ProQuest database Early English Books Online (EEBO). A subsequent bequest to Whitman’s Penrose Library facilitated outright purchase of the database. Access to EEBO has allowed us to expand and deepen existing assignments in our courses, to introduce new assignments, and to design a new course (taught by Alker, with a guest lecture by DiPasquale) on the History of the Book. We also took steps (beginning with a Faculty Forum presentation on 16 September 2010) to inform our colleagues in all three divisions about the pedagogical potential of EEBO and to encourage its use across the curriculum.
